

PRESS RELEASE

May 13, 2013

The Bristol Public Schools is proud to announce that Bristol Central High School has been awarded by US News and World Report as a 2013 Silver Medal School with a statewide ranking of 26th out of 169 Connecticut School Districts. Bristol Central High School is now ranked 1007 out of 21,000 high schools nationwide, placing it in the top 5% nationally. Superintendent of Schools Ellen Solek said that she is extremely proud of the hard work and dedication of Principal Peter Wininger and his entire staff, especially in the areas of establishing a well-defined school mission and a continued focus on successful outcomes for every student. The link to the US News and World Report article can be found here: <http://www.usnews.com/education/best-high-schools>